Problem Solving in LifeLong Learning

IDEA MARKET

Effective decision Making and Brainstorming | Area of Reference: Conflict Resolution

Short Description

This practice is used for decision making between peers.

After a couple of sessions of brainstorming, students share three ideas with a group of students from a different field in a market format.

The ones who listen have to contribute giving their feedback and/or make questions.

By the end of the practice, students have received different inputs that makes their ideas better and they end up choosing the best one
